FINELY CONTESTED GAMES AT COLUMBIA FIELD-M. W. LONG DEFEATS DUFFY. THE CHAMPION-CONTESTS FOR JUNIOR AND SENIOR

ATHLETES.

The junior championships had been finished at Columbia Field yesterday and the veteran athletes gere getting ready to compete for medals in the field sports when something occurred out of the ordinary at meets for athletes. James E. Sullivan. ordinal, the referee, remembered that a story had been printed that Dennis Horgan, the Irish champion shot putter, would arrive in this country yesterday ready to compete against the Americans. Then Mr. Sallivan remembered that several of the American athletes had been kept from competing in certain international contests in Paris by the fact that the announcer spoke in French and the Americans did not know they had been called to the starting

Mr. Suillvan asked everybody in hearing if they Mr. Bullivan asset explose, in learning it they had seen the Irish champion, and, receiving a negative reply, told the announcer to learn whether Mr. Horgan was among the spectators. Mr. Harvey immediately yelled, in his choicest Long Island

There was a commotion in the right wing of the grandstand, and an instant later a mighty tower of muscle and bone swung over the railing of the stand and landed with such a thump on the ground that the Tammany policemen actually started back with astonishment. Then they respectfully saluted the new arrival with all the deference that would be due to the commanding officer of the invading forces in China if he unexpectedly returned to his native country. Horgan was attired in a bicycle suit, and yellow golf stockings incased a pair of muscular limbs of the size of plane supports. The new importation was immense. He had no athletic could fit him out. A pair of trunks of apple barrel proportions was found and an athletic shirt, and the Irishman soon appeared. A religious charm showed beneath his almost transparent shirt. But when Horgan grabbed that iron shot and braced himself behind the crescent shaped stone to hurl the fron ball into space the onlookers gave him a wide berth, for his preliminary movements showed that he was a "putter." He hurled the shot 46 feet 14

The Tammany police had eyes only for Horgan,

and during the remainder of the day would do nothing but look at the Irishman. The referee and other officials requested the policemen to keep the crowd off the field, but the supposed guardians of the peace refused to notice their request. Mr.

Bullivan, the referee, asked one of the policemen

if he had been sent to the grounds to maintain order., and the pride of New-York gruffly answered that it was none of his business. The policeman became so abusive that Mr. Sullivan threatened to have him removed from the field. After that the officials of the games cleared the field the best they could, and did not ask for or relive any as-

YACHTING. THE RAINBOW DEFEATS THE MINEOLA

The most decisive beating ever experienced by August Belmont's Mineola was administered to her yesterday by Cornelius Vanderbilt's 70-footer Rainbow in the fall regatta of the Atlantic Yacht Club. It was a case in which nearly the whole race seemed to depend on a simple twist of the wrist at the start, for if Wringe, the skipper of the Mineola, had turned to windward instead of leeward in the last of the manœuvering before the start he could have held a weather berth on the Rainbow from the beginning of the race, in-stead of getting nailed down in such a way that he could never pass the Vanderbilt boat on the long sail out to the Scotland Lightship. On the return trip there was no more hope of catching and passing the nimble Rainbow than there was on the first reach to the Southwest Spit.

IN HARD WEATHER AND ON

EVEN TERMS

The wind was coming hard out of the east and bringing with it a lowering, leaden cloud rack that promised nothing cheerful, but both the seventies and the 60-foot cutters Isolde and Astrild sent up their largest clubtopsalls before the pre-liminary gun was fired. Charles T. Pierce, chairman of the Race Committee, in which A. F. Ald-ridge and George F. McNulty were working members, had chartered the large tug Unity to take members and guests over the course, and they all got a pretty good shaking up in the ocean seaway before the day was over. Eight classes of yachts ference, the Rainbow having the call. The Mineola did not seem to make so good weather of it. Out-side, they could lie their course for the lightship on the port tack, all but a short leg required to clear same, but the Mineola took an extra tack here, which was wholly unnecessary, as proved by the fact that the Rainbow did without the two extra turns in the seaway. She rounded the Scotland Lightship at 1:43:20.

and the Mineola at 1:45:05, the latter boat having lost nearly a minute since off the Hook. This is the only case in the memory of the writer in which the Belmont boat has this summer been beaten in windward work where the conditions beaten in windward work where the conditions were equal for both boats. Wringe sent up a large No. 1 jibtopsall as soon as he rounded, and four minutes later the Rainbow did the same. They were now running back to gybe at the Hook and again at the Spit, and then clear straight away for the home mark. The Mineola was losing in this run. At the bell buoy off the Hook she was timed at 2:08:55, and the Rainbow at 2:07:56, a lead for the Vanderbilt boat of 2 minutes and 35 seconds, meaning a gain of 1 minute and 10 seconds since the turn at the lightship. But here the Mineola made something by cutting inside the channel buoys after she gybed, and she was timed at the Southwest Spit at 2:28:30, the Rainbow turning at 2:25:07, showing the Mineola's gain to be 1 minute and 12 seconds. On the long reach home from the Spit the Mineola still further reduced the Rainbow's lead to fifty-one seconds. Cornelius Vanderbilt took off his hat in acknowledgment of the steam whistle ovation that welcomed him in as a winner. His time at the finish was 5:00:09, and Mr. Belmont was close on top at 3:01, both boats billing in magnificently, with their mainsails wet as high as their sailing numbers and their decks dripping.

The Isoide ripped in 3:30:49, her time being about twenty minutes more than the seventies' time over the same course. She, too, was wet, lean and graceful, as she came leaping and rushing home on the long ocean lift. The finishes of the other classes and all the winners are shown in the sub-joined table. The Narika found her rigging slacking up in the seaway, and returned from her race, for the Mineola.

The Larchmont Yacht Club has very courteously nyited the members of the Automobile Club of America to attend its annual clambake, Saturlay, September 22. The run will start from Astor Court at 12 o'clock sharp. The clambake will be Court at 12 o'clock sharp. The clambake will be served on the yacht club grounds at 2 p. m. It is especially desired that the club will be well represented on this occasion. An enjoyable time is assured. Tickets for the clambake ($2 each) will be issued by Whitney Lyon, chairman of the House Committee, at Astor Court, and also at the club grounds. Automobile caps should be worn. Members not owning these can procure them of Knox, the hatter, under the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

These races will be sailed immediately after the last championship race of the season, to be sailed on September 27. The Regatta Committee will be glad to arrange for match races to be sailed between boats in other classes on the last day of the raceabout series, which will probably be Saturday, September 23. The raceabout matches will be sailed over alternate windward and leeward and triangular courses, and will be best two out of three or three out of five matches, as may be arranged later. best two out of three or tas may be arranged later.

Yankee did, as the overtaking vessel, keep clear as required; that the foul was clearly due to the Mineola's luff; that the Mineola was responsible for luffing and wrong in so doing. The Yankee is sustained in her protest and the Mineola disqualified. Arour Smedley was in great all-round form for Manhattan, and in addition to making the top score of the game, with a good innings of 29, he was most effective with the ball, and succeeded in capturing 6 wickets for 20 runs, an average of 3.23 a wicket. Good work with the but was also done by J. Flan-E. B. Kay and H. Nothsur, all of whom got into the double figure list. For Nelson Lodge, H. MANHATTAN CRICKET CLUB.

The second eleven of the Brooklyn Club, which rejoices in the designation of "Team B," played the regular team of the club, and created quite an impression by defeating the seniors by 42 runs. The fine innings of B. Straw had much to do with the wictory, while E. Challenger bowled in a manner which prevented any of the losers from making a long stand at the wickets. In fact, G. C. Brown was the only man to get into double figures. W. S. Patmore and D. Boxill both looked as if they would score, but Challenger disposed of both of them before they could get into doubles. an end, and as a fifting windup to a remarkable year's play Surrey broke another record by scoring 523 for five wickets at the Oval against Derbyput on 364 runs for the first whicket. The "pro." made 183 and the Surrey captain 213. Abel thus equalled Ranjitsinhif's record of eleven separate senturies in one seasop.

Ranjitsinhji did not get an opportunity of bring ing his huge aggregate of 2.382 runs to the 3.000 mark, but that he should get within 18 runs of it is indeed remarkable. His big innings of 220 against Kent still further increased his enormous average, which rested finally as follows: Innings, not out, 5; most in an innings, 275; total runs, 2,982; C. B. Fry finished second, with 63.19; Abel third, with 58.57, Hayward fourth, with 56.17; R. E. Foster fifth, with 54.24, and J. R.

Nason sixth, with 53.76. In bowling, although C. M. Wells leads the figares with 36 wickets for 13.60, there is no doubt hat the best work was done by Rhodes, the Yorkshire professional, with 243 wickets for 13.06, while Haigh, his clubmate, was virtually second with 160 wickets for 14.72. Rhodes and Trott were the only en who captured 200 wickets in first class cricket in the season, and only thirteen men obtained 100.

In the county championship series of games Yorkshire and Lancashire maintained their records to the end, the former county going through the season undefeated being an unusual feat, for which Lord Hawke, the county's captain, has come in for congratulations from all sides. Kent proved a fair third, while Sussex, through the splendid batting of Ranjitsinhji and C. B. Fry, advanced to fourth place. Hampshire was the only county which did not win a single game.

THE NEWBURG PLAYERS WIN EVERY-THING AT YONKERS-EXCITING PLAY AT AMACKASSIN CLUB.

The annual championship tournament of the Hudson River Lawn Tennis Association was brought to an end yesterday afternoon on the grounds of the Amackassin Club, in Yonkers. Despite the overcast sities, a fashionable crowd of enthusiasts gathered to watch the play, and there was plenty of excitement in the afternoon. The day proved a glorious one for the Newburg delegation, as its players won all three of the matches, and the tournament ends with first honors in four out of the five competitions in their hands,

In both men's singles and women's singles it was Newburg and Tarrytown, and in each case the Sleepy Hollow player was badly beaten. To the surprise of all, Batt was badly beaten by Betts, the Newburger not allowing his opponent a single game in the last set. Mrs. W. H. Pouch, who was Miss Helen Hellwig, the National champion among women players, had everything her own way, beating Miss Ewings, also of Tarrytown, easily.

Mrs. Pouch won the mixed doubles with her husband, and also the women's doubles earlier in the week, with Miss Marie Matthiessen as her partner. The only victory for other than Newburg players was in the men's doubles, which went to Batt and Millard. The Yonkers representatives got only second prizes.

Yesterday's scores follow:

Men's championship singles (final round)—H. D. Betts beat J. L. Roberston, Jr., 6—2, 6—4, 8—6. Championship round—H. D. Betts (challenger) beat C. S. Batt (holder), 6—4, 6—2, 6—0. BEDELL CAPTURES THE KINGS COUNTY ROAD RACE-NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The annual five mile road race of the Kings County Wheelmen was held in the Merrick Road yesterday near Baldwins, Long Island. Many members of the club went out to see the performance. The contest was started promptly, and for that reason Richt and Relyea, who were late in arriving, did not take part. George Schofield was arriving, did not take part. George Schofield was another absentee, as he had not returned from Buffalo, where he raced and won a championship on Friday. The roads were in good condition, but rather dusty, and near the finish the riders ran into a stiff breeze. John Bedell, of Lynbrook, captured the race after a bruising finish with George Homans. A blanket would have covered the two men at the finish. The positions at the finish and the time of each man was as follows:

officials of the games cleared the "eid the best they could, and did not ask for or r. ive any assistance from the police.

Marwell W. Long, of international fame, had an easy time of it winning the quarter-mile run, his favorite distance. He captured more laurels by defecting A. F. Duffy, the champlon, in the 100-yard sprint. In the 220-yard run Long was winded and faished last. The other contests for seniors were won by Alexander Grant, R. F. Hutchinson, G. W. Orton, W. G. Edwards, H. Arnold, A. L. Newton, I. K. Eaxter, H. D. McDonald, Bascom Johnson, R. J. Sheldon and J. S. Mitchell, Mitchell had not competed for several years, and was as big as a barrel of beef. His victory yesterday gives him more championships than ever before was by an athlete in this country. There was some adverse criticism of Johnson's competing in the junior class, as he is an international winner as well as the intercollegiate champion. The rule is so worded that he could not be barred.

Several likely athletes competed in the junior class, which consists of men who have never won an Amateur Athletic Union championship. P. J. Walsh captured the 160-yard dash. The other winners were David McMeekin, ir. A. L. Newton, W. G. Edwards, H. Arnold, J. H. Kent, T. J. Vogellus, Daniel Reugs, R. J. Sheridan, John McCarthy, Bascom Johnson, W. W. Coe and P. J. Dinan. It was an afternoon of interesting and clean sport, but the weather was not of the sort to encourage record breaking, the atmosphere being heavy and soggy with moisture. There was a slight shower just at the last contest of the day was finished.

> The medals, samples of which have been on exhibition for several days, which are to be awarded to those who take part in the Union League Wheelmen's century run to-day have proved to be a potent attraction, and they account for the excellent entry list which is reported. A sufficient quantity will be ready for delivery at the finish of the run, not only for all who are now entered, but also for all who make their entries at the start. The start will be at Bedford Rest, Brooklyn, at 6 o'clock this morning. Among the pacemakers who will lead the run are C. P. Staubach, D. M. Adee, W. H. Mackey, T. J. Moore, C. E. Nylander, R. M. Bingham, F. F. Pelton, Miss Jane Yatman, A. Sutcliff, Paul Thomas, A. Jacobson and others who have paced all the important runs of the season. The route to be used is the same as that of the Veterans', Jefferson, and New-York Firemen's cycle clubs. quantity will be ready for delivery at the finish

Papers were served at Babylon, Long Island, yesterday, on Sidepath Commissioner Samuel A. Higble, in a suit for $10,000 damages begun by Highle, in a suit for $10,000 damages begun by John T. Byan, of Bay Shore. Mr. Byan was convicted of obstructing the cycle path in front of his home, and was fined $20. He was tried a second time on a similar charge, and the jury disagreed. On the third trial on the same charge he was acquitted. A charge of obstructing an officer in the performance of his duty was not pressed. Mr. Ryan has now brought an action against Commissioner Higbie, on the ground that he was arrested on a false charge.

A FIGHT FOR PLACE AT THE START.

The preparatory signal was given at 12 o'clock, and it was then seen that only two of the seventies would contest. Mr. Duryes, of the Yankee, was wanted at Newport, and his co-owner, Payne Whitney, would not undertake the sole charge of the boat. W. K. Vanderbilt's Virginia and also left for Newport, because the owner did not think he had a chance with his new and partly untrained crew. The bright green underbody of the Rainbow, with its glossy plano finish, was almost wholly upturned to public view, for as the boat passed the committee steamer she so far careened that part of her fin could be seen. As the time for the start approached the Rainbow came along on the starboard tack and passed t windward of the Mineola, which then gybed and buffed hard round to windward of the Rainbow's stern. Then the Rainbow gybed quickly and came up to windward of the Mineola, which then bore away for the line. She had been beaten in the fight for place, and now placidly accepted the worse This, as it turned out, governed the chances of the day

Both broke out foresails and small tibtopsails as they came for the line, gathering a gait that was almost terrific as they tore past in an acre of foam. The Rainbow had her mast about twenty feet head of the Mineola's as they crossed, and the latter boat soon luffed up to get to windward of the Vanderbilt boat. She could point then, but she had not the legs for the work, and when she threatened, Parker luffed the Rainbow out till they were heading almost into the Coney Island Both were far from their course. Then suddenly Wringe payed off and tried to pass to leeward, but with no success, and once more he tried passing to windward, without any res The yachts payed off to their course for the Spit, about south by west, and lying over sometimes till a man could walk out on their flattened sails from the deck. As they hit the incoming ocean seas they were knocking the water off both bows to a great distance, and when the surface was smoother they were peeling it out in sheets of white like a steam snow plough. Every one watched for their topmast rigging to give somewhere, and the Rain ow's top stick had a noticeable curve to it under pressure, but the yachts showed in the severe trial of the whole day that they were excellently formed in their steel rigging, and they carried away nothing. THE ASTRILD GAINS AN ADVANTAGE. The 60-foot cutters Isolde and Astrild got their start at 12:15 o'clock, and here the Hanans put the Isolde in the same place to leeward on the start as the Rainbow put the Mineola. The Astrild fought harder perhaps for best place, because she had a large contract on hand. To beat the far-famed Isolde in heavy weather like this and in seas in which her power would tell was a task for which the Astrild required all the preliminary advantages that could be gathered in. with the start just as she wanted it she did not hold her lead. The Isolde hoisted a working jibtopsail, and at 12:18 she was seen lapping up on the weather quarter of her foreign sister in a dangerous way. Before the Spit was reached she passed the Astrild to windward, outpowering her in carrying sail.

The K class of cutters held the Uvira and the Ondawa, and the Uvira got away fully a minute and a half shead of the Ondawa, which seemed at first to have mistaken her signal. The Uvira was being sailed by the sailing master, as R. P. Doremus, her owner, was sailing on the Mineola. The bad start of the Ondawa was hardly to be calculated in the twenty minutes or more by which she was finally defeated.

The Bermuda rig Akista went away first on the 12:25 o'clock gun, followed by the Flossie, which carried a single reef; the Narika, the Rhuhama and the Sea Flower. The Ojibway and the Kittiwake went up under Coney Island Point for calm water after they got away at 12:35 o'clock. After that the Wraith, the Venture, the Pebble, the Bronco, the Spots, the Song and Dance and other small craft went plunging out on their courses.

When overtaken off the Hook, after they had beaten out from the Southwest Spit, the 69-footers were having a noble race of it, and in their case the question as to what the heavy sea could do to a boat was forgotten. There was some wonder as to how the 70-foot "leakabouts" would pull through, but no one had any fear that the Isoide or Astrild would fall into a hole and break their necks, and the boats are greatly admired for their stanchness as well as speed. In fact, they supply continual opportunity for comparison with the leaky baskets which have been turned out this year into the American racing field. The Isoide was over a quarter of a mile ahead at 1:50, but the Astrild was sailing a grand race, and it was tiptop yachting from cellar to garret, and all day. The little tenders Scout and Mirage, the fast steam companions of the Mineola and the Rainbow, seemed pretty easy and comfortable in the ocean seas, though they would sometimes be wholly lost to sight in some hollow. the Wraith, the Venture, the Pebble, the Bronco,

THE MINEOLA DISQUALIFIED.

THE YANKEE JUDGED WINNER OF THE THOUSAND DOLLAR CUP.

Newport, R. I., Sept. 15 (Special).-A decision was handed down to-day by the Regatta Committee of the Newport Yacht Racing Association-Ralph N. Ellis, Woodbury Kane and A. Cass Canfield-on the Mineola-Yankee protest over the 70-footer race of August 22 for the $1,000 cup. The decision is a long one, covering over five pages of typewritten matter, and goes into the matter in detail, giving the wording of the protests, two by August Belmont, of the Mineola, and one by H. B. Duryea, of the Yankee. The committee decided to consider the first foul only, rejecting the second, in accordance with the precedent already established by the committee that the act by which a yacht disqualifies herself thereby deprives her of all further right in the race. The first foul occurred on the reach to the first mark. Mr. Belmont alleged that the Yankee, the overtaking yacht and the one to windward, did not keep clear of the Mineola, and so caused the foul. Mr. Duryea said that the Mineola luffed sharpwith the apparent intention of going under the Yankee's stern, and struck the end of the Yankee's mainsail with the outer part of her bowsprit shroud. He protested under Rule 7. After a short discussion of the testimony, the committee says that the following are the essential facts in its judgment:

First-The Yankee was the overtaking yacht to windward. Second-An overlap existed, as proved by the Fourth-Had the Mineola not luffed the foul ould not have occurred. Rule 5 on overtaking, Rule 8 on luffing and

Rule 7 on altering course are quoted, and the decision discusses the various rights of overtaking vessels, and holds that the right to luff ceases when the overtaking and windward yacht has drawn so far ahead that the leeward yacht can no longer by luffing actually prevent the other yacht from passing her to windward. In such a case the windward yacht is practically unable to avoid a foul, and when this point is reached the leeward and overtaken yacht is bound to hold her course under Rule 7. testimony as to just what the two boats did at this time is here further discussed, and it is held that the Yankee had a right to hold her course, under Rule 7 and the rules of the sea; that the testimony showed that the mate of the
